Overview

The file `.novadiff-graph/diff-overlay.json` has been deleted entirely (lines 1-156). It previously stored metadata for the diff overlay, including the version, base branch, generation timestamp, lists of changed files, changed node IDs, and affected node IDs.

Key changes

- Removal of the JSON file at `.novadiff-graph/diff-overlay.json`.
- All persisted data (`"changedFiles"`, `"changedNodeIds"`, `"affectedNodeIds"`) is no longer available.
- No new file or alternative storage was added in this commit.

Impact

- Code that reads or writes this file (e.g., `fs.readFileSync('.novadiff-graph/diff-overlay.json')`) will now throw an `ENOENT` error.
- Tests that depend on the presence of this file will fail unless updated.
- The version (`"version": "1.0.0"`) and timestamp (`"generatedAt"`) information are lost, reducing auditability of overlay generation.
- Components that previously loaded this data for rendering (such as the graph view) must be updated to use an alternative source or handle the missing file gracefully.

Risks & follow-ups

- Regression risk: Any path that assumes the file exists will crash. Run targeted tests that touch diff-overlay logic.
- Compatibility risk: External tooling importing this JSON for configuration will break. Verify that no such imports remain.
- Observability risk: Loss of the `"generatedAt"` timestamp may hinder debugging of stale overlays. Consider adding a fallback logging mechanism.
- Documentation: Update any docs or README sections that reference the diff overlay file.
